

Four Major Optical Cable Brands

Grid Cable for marine and offshore
applications

AI Overview

Corning, Prysmian Group, Fujikura, and LS Cable & System are among the four major global brands of optical cables.

- 1. Corning Corning Inc., headquartered in the United States, is a pioneer in fiber optic technology and holds approximately 10.4% of the global market share. The company is renowned for its low-loss optical fibers, bend-insensitive designs, and high-purity glass fibers, supporting high-speed data transmission for FTTx networks, data centers, and telecommunications infrastructure. Corning invests heavily in R&D, developing next-generation solutions such as 800G Ethernet and ClearCurve fibers for tight bends, making it a leader in innovation and reliability in optical cabling.
- 2. Prysmian Group Based in Italy, Prysmian Group is a global leader in fiber optic and energy solutions, with a strong presence in over 50 countries. The company specializes in submarine, fire-resistant, and long-haul optical cables with high tensile strength and low attenuation. Prysmian's extensive portfolio supports large-scale infrastructure projects, including 5G networks and smart city deployments, and the company is known for its innovation in bend-optimized fibers and high-density cable designs.
- 3. Fujikura Fujikura Ltd., headquartered in Japan, is a key player in the global fiber optic sector, providing fiber optic cables, telecommunications equipment, and automotive components. The company is recognized for its high-quality solutions in both telecommunications and industrial applications, including 5G network expansion. Fujikura's expertise in precision manufacturing and global network deployment makes it a trusted supplier for long-distance and high-performance optical cabling.
- 4. LS Cable & System LS Cable & System, based in South Korea, is a leading manufacturer of fiber optic and power cables. The company focuses on technological innovation and global expansion, providing solutions for telecommunications, energy, and industrial applications. LS Cable & System is known for its high-quality optical fibers, robust manufacturing ca...
