

Galvanized ladder-type cable tray manufacturer

AI Overview

Top manufacturers of ladder-type galvanized cable trays include Parco Engineers, Spina Group, Superfab Cable Trays, ELCON Global, and Bravo Cable Trays, offering HDG, GI, and custom solutions for industrial and commercial applications. Leading Manufacturers Parco Engineers Parco Engineers specializes in hot-dip galvanized (HDG) ladder cable trays with a ladder-like design that supports heavy-duty power and communication cables. Their trays provide excellent ventilation, heat dissipation, and easy maintenance, making them suitable for power plants, oil and gas, petrochemical, manufacturing, and data centers. They offer custom sizes, IS-compliant products, and in-house galvanizing facilities for tailored solutions. Spina Group (Schiavetti Tekno) An Italian manufacturer, Spina Group produces HDG and stainless steel ladder cable trays for industrial and infrastructure projects. Their ladder trays are designed for high mechanical resistance, maximum ventilation, and safe cable routing. They provide custom widths, compatibility with Unistrut systems, and accessories like elbows, junctions, and covers for indoor and outdoor use. Superfab Cable Trays Superfab offers a wide range of GI, HDG, powder-coated, and ladder-type cable trays. Their products are suitable for industrial and commercial installations, emphasizing robust construction, heavy-duty designs, and efficient cable management. They also provide customized solutions to meet specific project requirements. ELCON Global Based in Pune, India, ELCON Global manufactures hot-dip GI, pre-galvanized, powder-coated, electroplated, and painted ladder cable trays. Their trays are designed for optimal airflow, high load capacity, and secure cable distribution. ELCON also offers accessories such as bends, tees, reducers, and couplers, along with professional installation services. Bravo Cable Trays Bravo Ca...
