

Thai manufacturers of electrical distribution boxes

AI Overview

Thailand hosts several reputable manufacturers of electrical distribution boxes, including TAMCO, TIC Modular System, Thai Technic Power, and Keming Electrical. Key Manufacturers

TAMCO TAMCO is a leading Thai manufacturer of high-quality electrical control cabinets and distribution panels. They are authorized partners of Siemens and ABB, offering over 30 years of experience in serving EPC companies, the solar energy sector, and various industries. TAMCO provides complete design, assembly, and installation services, including PLC control circuits, SCADA systems, and turnkey electrical solutions for industrial and commercial projects.

TIC Modular System Co., Ltd Established in 1996, TIC Modular System specializes in the design, consultation, and manufacturing of electrical distribution systems, switchboards, MDB, SDB, MSB, MCCB, and junction boxes. TIC also produces steel cable tray systems, ladders, wireways, and pull boxes. The company offers installation, operations, and after-sales services, supported by a team of over 400 technicians and 50 engineers.

Thai Technic Power (TTP) Founded in 2012, TTP manufactures electrical control panels and switchboards for commercial and industrial applications. They provide customized solutions according to client requirements and have experience in distributing electrical components and installing electrical systems.

Keming Electrical Although based in China, Keming Electrical supplies premium-grade power distribution and junction box solutions to Thailand. Their products are widely used in industrial estates, commercial developments, renewable energy projects, and EV charging infrastructure. Keming emphasizes certified, weather-resistant enclosures suitable for Thailand's growing electrical infrastructure needs.
