

What does BFC stand for in a distribution box

Overview

BFC typically stands for Beat-Frequency Components, which are frequencies produced in signal processing when two signals of different frequencies interfere with each other, creating a new frequency equal to the difference between the two original frequencies. BFC Software's purpose-built WMS, buying, transportation, and analytics solutions handle the complexity of food distribution: catch weights, lot control, FSMA 204, and multi-temp zones. Get the workflows, real-time control, and data-driven insights to turn your warehouse efficiency into bottom-line. What does BFC stand for?
